Who can be a GFMD Affiliate Member?

Affiliate Membership in GFMD is open to journalism and media organisations, partners and grantees of GFMD general members and other organisations associated with existing GFMD members, whether general or affiliate, who have less than 250 employees and an annual turnover of less than €2 million.

What are the benefits of being an Affiliate Member?

As a member, you and your organisation would be able to enjoy the benefits our network has to offer, including:

1. Policy and advocacy

Our membership network helps members who want to participate in shaping the future of international media policy by avoiding lack of knowledge and resources, barriers of access and participation, and lack of credibility; and by enabling a long term, sustained engagement, visibility and access to policymakers that will result in long term benefits and value for organisations, their partners, and for the overall sector. These include:

- Exchange knowledge on emerging issues in media development through GFMD IMPACT - the International Media Policy and Advisory Centre. This initiative brings together key media development and journalism support stakeholders to ensure more effective (evidence-based & coordinated) and impactful (contextually tailored & oriented toward long-term, strategic goals) sector support.
- Engage in internet policy and governance while helping to voice the concerns of the journalism and media development community through the Dynamic Coalition on the Sustainability of Journalism and News Media \(DC-Sustainability\), an officially recognised Dynamic Coalition within the Internet Governance Forum (IGF).
- Being part of a diverse global network of all the major and minor actors in media development, local and regional media assistance groups, and the representatives of upcoming media sectors to share resources, calls for collaboration, search for partners, and find other relevant information directly with all other GFMD members.
- Obtain representation at international fora, including the United Nations, European Union, World Bank, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), International Association for Media and Communication Research (IAMCR), Internet Governance Forum (IGF), and many more.

2. Capacity building

Our membership network also helps members who want to increase their ability to successfully generate revenues from donors and international and local funders by resolving lack of capacity and access to opportunities, knowledge and funders; and by increasing visibility to donors, access to timely information and access to funding opportunities. These include:

- Get insights into the latest trends in funding for media development and journalism support in the GFMD Fundraising Guide - a guide that provides insight into a variety of application models, takes you through the project design process, and helps you submit better - and ultimately more successful - funding proposals.
- Check your editorial policies and be transparent about the inner workings of your craft by becoming part of the Journalism Trust Initiative - a compliance tool for journalism that makes your investment in ethics visible to the communities that you serve and to your business partners. GFMD members have free access to the JTI Campus - an online educational centre - and a 50% discount on subscription fees. (This discount is available exclusively to GFMD members. The 50% discount on fees is in addition to the potential reductions advertised for “Legal entities” on the pricing section of the JTI website).
- Visibility on the GFMD website, social media platforms, periodic newsletters, and other general activities shared on our communication channels.
- Expand your international horizons, search for partners and create synergies by gaining access to the GFMD-wide mailing list, member-only activities and meetings, as well as networking events and meetups with our members, partners, and industry leaders.
- Receive “Blue Tick” verification on Twitter as part of our ongoing efforts to strengthen information ecosystems, promote the work of our members among digital platforms, and ensure the rich information our network produces can reach a wider audience.

Kindly note that GFMD Affiliate members do not have the right to stand and vote in elections to the GFMD Steering Committee, other Committees, and any matter that is put to a vote of the general membership.

Networking - We are an international network of over 100 journalism support and media development organisations working in around 50 countries.

Visibility - Our unique, neutral and trusted position allows us to bring together all the major actors in media development, local and regional media assistance groups, and the representatives of upcoming media sectors to reach a common understanding of needs and priorities.

Credibility - We are a democratically governed network, in which regional diversity, local expertise and autonomy of the members are deeply rooted principles.

Policy and Advocacy - We advocate for increased understanding, recognition and importance of journalism support and media development within international corporate, donor, and intergovernmental and philanthropic communities.

Knowledge, Standards, and Skills Sharing - We strengthen the capacity and skills of journalism and media support and development groups, and promote best practices and professional standards of the sector.
